PROFILE

After four years on Meilleurs Agents' data team, from price mapping to data engineering, I became a freelance full-stack developer in 2023. Since then I have been building business applications and B2B SaaS, from architecture to production.

My biggest strength, according to my clients: I don't just execute. I analyze the product, ask the right questions and make concrete suggestions so it truly serves its users.

I work first and foremost with companies and product teams — startups, SMBs and scale-ups — from data to interface, with a pragmatic, AI-augmented approach.
